

Theatre Counts

"Theatre education can help young people develop a strong sense of self and identity, build empathy and learning among peers and broaden the ways they make meaning of the world around them."

On November 17, AEP released Theatre Counts: How Theatre Education Transforms Students' Lives. As the fourth publication in the Arts Count series, Theatre Counts outlines benefits of theatre education for children and youth. Theatre Counts was created in collaboration with Educational Theatre Association, American Alliance for Theatre and Education, and Hewlett Foundation.

Save the Date: Teaching Artist Event, April 2022

Mark your calendars now for a virtual event in support of teaching artists across the country. Our Shared Future: Imagining a New Landscape for Teaching Artists will feature sessions that dig into the current realities and hopeful futures of teaching artistry.

Registration for this special event will open in early 2022! We will share registration and agenda details in ArtsEd Digest and via Twitter, Facebook and LinkedIn. This event is made possible by funding from the National Endowment for the Arts, U.S. Department of Education and Hewlett Foundation and by planning support from the Teaching Artists Guild and Arts Education Partnership.

New Report From Hewlett Foundation: Ten Dimensions of Powerful Arts Education

Arts education is about more than just teaching youth a craft; it's also about creating ways for them to explore who they are and how they want to express themselves. Last month, the Hewlett Foundation released a report identifying ten dimensions of powerful arts education. These ten dimensions are flexible and can serve as building blocks to continue supporting impactful arts education for our youth.

NAMM Foundation Seeks Nominations for Best Communities for Music Education

The NAMM Foundation's Best Communities for Music Education (BCME) award program signifies the ongoing commitment of communities to support music and other arts disciplines as a vital part of a well-rounded education for all children. Anyone living in a community can nominate their school or district. The deadline to apply is Jan. 31, 2022.

Grand Opening of National PTA Exhibit

In response to the 2020-21 Reflections theme, "I Matter Because ...", National PTA invited Reflections artists of color and their allies to share artwork that expresses and affirms their beliefs and identities, as well as the importance of Black lives. To further celebrate diversity in the arts, the organization has launched an entirely new experience: an interactive, virtual exhibit. Check it out by visiting PTA.org/DElexhibit, available now through summer 2022.
