STEAM Education at the 2019 AEP Annual Convening

Interested in learning more from arts education research and work in the field related to arts integration and the impact of STEAM education on student and workforce success? Join us Sept. 11-12 for our premier event, which includes a look at these topics and more!

The STEAM as a Strategy for Engaging Communities morning plenary will kick off day one and explore ways to prepare students for future careers and connect with communities across sectors. The Systemically STEAM: Tips for Building a STEAM Ecosystem concurrent session taking place on day two will provide the opportunity to learn how to coordinate efforts and collaborate to enhance STEAM learning.

The Aug. 11 early-bird deadline is fast approaching, so register today!

New Blog Post: AEP: Linking Practice With Policy to Integrate the Arts

In this month’s President’s Post on Education Commission of the States’ Ed Note blog, Jeremy Anderson shares more about AEP’s past and future work in supporting access to high-quality arts education for students across the country, including a look at its recent work in STEAM and school choice.

Six High School Students Named as 2019 Musical Theater Songwriting Challenge Winners

The National Endowment for the Arts — in partnership with the American Theatre Wing — announced four individual students and one duo as regional finalists for this annual competition that provides winning students with the opportunity to work with professional musical theatre artists to further develop their original songs. The six winners will go on to work with a professional coaching team before advancing to the national finals.
Registration Open: Free Upcoming Webinar Series to Explore Creative Youth Development

A three-part webinar series from the Creative Youth Development National Partnership and Grantmakers for Education — hosted by the National Guild for Community Arts Education — will explore a variety of topics related to supporting youth development through creative opportunities. Webinar topics include youth agency, program trends and social justice work; and the first webinar in the series will take place at 1 p.m. EDT July 30.

Related AEP Resource: Creative Youth Development: Transforming the Learning Environment

Grant to Help Expand Theatre Education in Los Angeles Charter Schools

iLead Charter Schools will use the Arts Advancement grant — awarded by Los Angeles County Arts Education Collective — to bring its theatre program to additional schools in LA and expand programming in its Santa Clarita Valley International Charter School. Funds will help support drama and theatre professional development for teachers and offset fees for teaching artists.

Related AEP Resource: The Arts in Schools of Choice

Workshop Program Helps Prepare Hawaii Teenagers for the Theatre Industry

The no-cost Aloha Teen Theatre program — which takes place during the school year — provides students with the opportunity to perform a musical and helps them to develop real-world skills and increase their confidence. Students participating in the program work together to select the show they will perform.

Festival Provides South Dakota Youths With Access to Music Education

The 2019 Chamber Music Festival in Black Hills, South Dakota, provides a variety of music education programming for youths across ages to engage in, including Musical Story Times that combine art, music and stories; interactive children's concerts; and musical instrument instruction. The festival also offers classes, which feature instruction from professional musicians and support with college applications and scholarships, for teenagers who are interested in a musical career.

Learning Academy Engages STEAM Education in Early Childhood

The Ready, Set, Grow Learning Academy — a STEAM-focused early learning and child care center — provides youths in Memphis with activities to engage in arts learning and build a foundation across academic disciplines. The academy offers a variety of pre-K programming, including dance instruction and arts lessons to support sensory development.

Related Education Commission of the States Resource: Supporting STEM Education From Preschool to Workforce

CONVENINGS

● REGISTER NOW! 2019 AEP Annual Convening
   Arts Education Partnership, Sept. 11-12, Alexandria, Va.

● Lincoln Center Education – 2019 Summer Forum
ArtsEdSearch
Findings from a study examining the sight-singing ability of second-grade students show a robust association between reading comprehension and notation–singing achievement. More

ArtScan
Thirty-nine states have early childhood arts education standards and require schools or districts to provide or offer arts instruction at the elementary, middle and high school levels.

Explore arts education policies in your state using ArtScan.

Featured Resource
Engaging the Arts in the Broader Education Policy Landscape
This Education Trends report explores education policy areas where arts in education leaders and stakeholders can expand opportunities to engage the arts in policy solutions and includes examples of how states are currently using the arts in education to support their policy efforts.

The Arts Education Partnership at Education Commission of the States is established through a cooperative agreement between the National Endowment for the Arts and the U.S. Department of Education. AEP serves as the nation’s hub for individuals and organizations committed to making high-quality arts education accessible to all U.S. students, improving arts education practice and researching how art influences and strengthens American education.

AEP’s efforts to communicate, collaborate, convene and connect policymakers, stakeholders and leaders across the arts in education field are supported by the following foundation partners: The Hewlett Foundation and The Wallace Foundation.

Arts Education Partnership | 700 Broadway St., Suite 810 | Denver, CO | 80203 | 303.299.3600

Have news to share?
Please submit a 100 word summary to cquillen@ecs.org.
Connect with our partners online!

Stay current on all of the arts education news from our partner organizations by subscribing to the AEP Partners Twitter list! You can also visit the member section of this list and follow all of our partners. If you are a member of AEP and don’t see your Twitter handle listed or if you have news to share on the AEP Twitter handle, please contact Cassandra Quillen at cquillen@ecs.org.